A Little History of the Valiant Sailor

Perched above the White Cliffs on New Dover Road, the Valiant Sailor has been a local favourite in Capelle-Ferne for over two centuries. Originally established in the late 18th century (records indicate the building dates back to around 1782) as a welcoming roadside inn for travellers and seafarers, the pub has stood witness to generations of village life, serving hearty food, good drinks, and warm hospitality to locals, walkers and visitors alike.

Its name reflects a proud tradition of welcoming returning sailors and soldiers - a reminder of Kent's deep maritime and military connections. With the nearby North Downs Way and iconic Battle of Britain Memorial close at hand, the Valiant Sailor has long been more than just a pub - it's a gathering place with character and history right on the cliff top.
